

Will my camera be affected by the humidity?

Years ago cameras would sometimes be affected by the humidity. People used to bring silica gel to put inside zip lock bags with their cameras. But the new cameras that operate with digital chips don't seem much affected by humidity.