

Do you have hot showers?

---

In the Amazon rainforest, water heated to 30-33 degrees Centigrade will become a soup of mycobacteria. If aerosolized by a shower head the bacteria can be inhaled into the lungs and cause a serious, tubucular-like pulmonary infection. For this reason, like all other jungle lodges, we have only cold water showers