

What clothes should I wear in the jungle?

We simply recommend raingear, short and long sleeved shirts and pants, a hat with a brim and a bathing suit. To be any more specific would be self defeating because people have such great individual differences in what they feel is appropriate. We have a photo in our office of two people perfectly dressed for the rainforest--one has flip-flops, shorts and a tank top, while the person next to him has jungle boots, socks, long camouflaged pants that tie around the ankles, long sleeved shirt, gloves and hat with a mosquito net that falls from the brim. Both are perfectly outfitted in a way that best suits their personalities.
